

WAG's Pay-it-forward scheme

Pay for your own pet and also for a stray

As humans we cannot choose where we are born, likewise animals do not choose their destiny either. Some are lucky to have human caretakers whilst others are left to fend for themselves.

Whilst you are helping your own pets with their neutering and health check ups, please consider the thousands of stray animals who have no human to care for them. WAG has initiated a pay-it-forward scheme to benefit those animals that are in a vulnerable position, with their health and lives at risk because of no assistance from humans.

This is an opportunity for you to get directly involved with controlling the local stray animal population. As you know preventing one pregnancy can prevent the unwanted birth of 67,000 puppies in 6 years and 42,000 kittens in 7 years, who wind up on the streets foraging for food in garbage dumps, fighting amongst themselves, spreading disease and being victims of abuse and speeding vehicles.

People often tell us they wish to help but don't know how to. WAG has a team of experienced dog and cat catchers with proper equipment to humanely catch them, transport them to our clinic where they will be vaccinated and/or neutered and then released back to their original location.

There are different ways you can 'pay-it-forward':

- 1) Neuter your own pet & sponsor the neutering of one in need
- 2) Vaccinate your own pet and pay for the vaccination of another
- 3) Deworm your own pet and pay for a stray's deworming
